The 8th Edition of the International Conference The Future of Education

Iasi, Romania
28 – 29 June 2008

Minutes

Hosted by Pixel - International Education and Training Institution, during 28 and 29 June 2018, in Florence, Italy.

OFFBOOK project has been accepted with a virtual presentation and publication of an article with the title The Off Book Project: Changing School Patterns Through Theatrical Means.

Abstract

The article focuses on the OFFBOOK project (Programme: Erasmus+/2017-1-LT01-KA201-035235), developed by partners from Bulgaria, Greece, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania and Slovakia. The article focuses on the challenges that European school faces nowadays and outlines the strategies to meet them as proposed by the OFFBOOK project, by using new educational methods and tools related to drama performances. The OFFBOOK project targets young European students with ages ranging from 15 to 17 and creates materials in order to provide them with the knowledge and competences to combat discrimination and exploit multiculturalism as an added value. The article presents the project main objectives, activities and outcomes. The article focuses on the main method used aiming at changing school systems patterns through theatrical means. The method applied in the "Theatrical Laboratories" will enable teachers to deconstruct existing discriminating behaviours in classrooms in a multicultural environment and develop students' transversal skills. The article examines the project's most recent output: the guidelines, "Teachers on Performing Arts to Promote Integration at School" and highlights its methodological and pedagogical aspects.

Description:

The Conference brings together teachers, researchers, practitioners and project managers from all over the world to share findings, expertise and experience about innovative teaching and learning methodologies, through oral presentations, poster sessions, and social events.
